SAMIRA ECHAIB

Algiers, Algeria

Ms. Samira Echaib is a lecturer at the Higher Institute of Sciences (HIS), and formerly served as a training manager at MTI Institute where she created training programs, developed marketing strategies, and managed the recruitment of teachers and trainers. Samira's interests include volunteerism and civic engagement, including her previous membership at AISEC where she served as a team leader in charge of soft skills training.

In addition to her current role, Samira is currently earning her doctorate degree in Law and Political Science at the University of Algiers III.

Professional Goals

Samira's professional goals center around education, and the impact of education on the lives of students and community members. In the future, she hopes to pursue a career in education that allows her to address skills gaps among youth in her community and enhance the quality of education in Algiers.

Professional Fellows Program Objectives

During the Professional Fellows Program, Samira hopes to improve her leadership and public speaking skills in an international environment and to learn more about academic research and writing. Additional interests include methods for social entrepreneurship and how to develop community training programs that address community needs.

Following the Professional Fellows Program, Samira aims to create a local association for student job training and professional development that empowers students to transfer theoretical knowledge into practical skills. She hopes that this association will also help students identify needs in the community and how they can be addressed.
